

ISI is all set to establish Scientific Center in State Capital

The Indian Statistical Institute (ISI), one of the frontline institutions of its genre in the World, is looking forward the State Capital to set up a Scientific Center for catering the needs of developmental programmes of North-Eastern region.

Seeking a suitable land for the establishment of the institution, the ISI team has decided to start up their academic session in any govt. or semi-govt. building at the earliest possible. With an objective to promote the study and dissemination of knowledge of Statistics, planning for national development and social welfare; the ISI intends to set up various divisions pertaining to biological, mathematical, computer science, environmental sciences besides statistics division in the proposed institution.

The Director has revealed that, the institution would have scientists and administrative officers from the State of Arunachal Pradesh besides representatives from ISI for running the institution. In this way, job opportunities for talented local youths would also be generated.

The institution would offer various technical courses besides helping the State govt. in formulating development plans and programmes. It would conduct periodical training programmes and would substantially emphasize on research work.